The old year is ending, so it's time to see what's coming in the New Year 2012. Who better to hear from at our Dec. 28 meeting than Joe Taylor of the Quad Cities Convention and Visitors Bureau, whose Website lists these three top announcements:

→ John Deere Pavilion is currently closed... Reopens mid-Feb. »

→ Enter to Win an Eagle Watching Winter Weekend Getaway! »

→ Over 50 Coupons for Be a Tourist in Your Own Backyard Weekends, Jan. 13-16 & Feb. 17-20 »

Doxsie: 'Too many bowl games'

As he has for the previous three years, Don Doxsie, sports editor of the Quad-City Times, did some speculating about the 2011-12

College Bowl Season at the Dec. 21 meeting. "I want to thank the University of Iowa football program for giving me something to write about," he began, commenting on the suspension of running back Marcus Coker – "who accounted for 89% of the Hawkeyes' running yardage this season." Since Iowa was listed as a 16-point underdog to Oklahoma in the Insight Bowl before Coker's suspension, Doxsie said, "without him there's very little chance" of the Hawks winning. Still, he concluded, a bit wistfully, in 1984 Iowa beat Texas by more than 40 points.

There are too many bowl games, he said – 35 games, meaning 70 of the 120 teams in the NCAA bowl-eligible division will be playing. "Who would have thought there'd be a bowl game on Dec. 30 in Yankee Stadium?" he added – referring to Iowa State vs. Rutgers in the Pin Stripe Bowl. To further drive the point home, he noted 10 of the 12 Big Ten teams will be in bowl games (he didn't say anything about the ironic arithmetic...). Illinois plays UCLA Dec. 31 in the Kraft Fight Hunger Bowl in San Francisco.

Answering questions from the club, Doxsie commented, "Early in the season I expected Wisconsin to be in the national-championship game – but I was surprised they lost two." As for that game, he said "Alabama can beat LSU this year because it has an offense. LSU has a great defense." He predicted a low score.

The meeting opened...

... with President Scott Naumann leading the recitation of "The 4-Way Test," followed by the singing of the day's patriotic song, "America the Beautiful." After Moments of Reflection, Song-leader Tom Howard, aided and abetted by piano accompanist Sheri Fleming, cranked up the old BRC singing machine with some seasonal favorites: "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "We Three Kings" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

Secretary Chuck introduced:

Visiting Rotarians:

Leanne Shaw, Moline: Banking
Marcia Brandt, North Scott: Marketing

Guests:

➔ Charity grants program. Jeff Hassel

announced that the BRC Charities Board will distribute grants during the Jan. 11, 2012, to 12 recipient organizations – all of which plan to have representatives in attendance.

The news...

Fred Anderson reported the news you won't find elsewhere: X-rays of an English woman found a felt-tipped pen she accidentally swallowed 25 years ago – it still wrote, proving the pen is mightier than 2.5 decades of stomach acid.... A Florida man left his date at the movies – and stole her car; police found it in a parking lot and arrested him.... A London store prompted protests from animal-rights activists by selling pâté of a “relative of Rudolph” – but the reindeer delicacy is no longer available: the furor hiked demand and it all sold out.... A British girl's gift wish list included “the real-life Justin Bieber,” and she threatened to kill Santa if he didn't deliver – turns out she was “angry because I thought I wasn't going to get all the presents I wanted.” Naughty? Nice? You be the judge.

Sergeant at arms...

President Scott collected $214 for our foundations + birthday money to our Scholarship Fund from Jeff Hassel ($39) and Carl Loweth ($66) – who also retired from Deere. Ryan Happy $$ also were generously contributed by: Dawn Saul - $11 for 11 days off... John Sherrick – birth of granddaughter... Laurie Dobesh – thankful all in the family are well... Dr. Tom Olson – “I appreciate each day” + welcome to take a cigar + thanks to Tim Downing for lowering the rent... Bill Daley – thanks to Scout Troop 24 – where he became an Eagle Scout... Connie Mangler – going to the Dominican Republic in January.

Farewell...

At the end of the meeting, Duncan Cameron announced he is resigning his membership because he's moving to Naples, Fla. – but he expects to be back “frequently.”
